

VALENTINA BONDESAN

AIB – Associazione Italiana Biblioteche (Italian Library Association)

RdR – Rete delle Reti (Italian Network of the Networks)

Valentina Bondesan works in CSBNO - Culture Socialità Biblioteche Network Operativo, a special consortium company composed by the libraries of 32 towns in the north-west of Milan metropolitan area, as Head of Innovation and Development of Library Networks and Referent of the Network of Networks. She is Coordinator of local library systems in Lombardy in cooperation with CSBNO. She draws up and manages plans and processes for the relaunch and requalification of library networks.

Since September 2018 she is part of the AIB Observatory on Censorship and since 2019 she serves as member of the Public Library National Committee of Italian Library Association.

In 2019 she contributed to the birth of RdR – Rete delle Reti, an association of public library networks around the country. Today she is a member of the National Committee of RdR and she is involved in implementing new solutions for libraries to better serve their patrons. Her work also addresses the lack of state guidelines and the relevance of collaboration in library policies.

She has an in-depth knowledge of the themes of fundraising, crowdfunding and cultural marketing. She is interested in gamification, immersive media and new technologies, and digital literacy.

She believes that libraries do not simply serve a community but have a responsibility to help improve and therefore shape communities. This allows libraries to face up as leaders the challenges of the Agenda 2030 SDGs.